

Writing Secret Letters

Did you know you can write secret letters in milk or lemon juice?

- The one who receives the letters needs to know that they have to iron them to make the writing appear!
- Experiment with different types of paper. For example, you can compare ordinary printing paper and the watercolour paper artists use.
- Experiment with different writing implements. Is a pen or a small brush more effective?
- And which is more successful, milk or lemon juice?

Register your experiment at www.bigsciexp/register/